

1. The role of the Management Information Systems is to inventory management and planning system wherein when the TPS data are sorted the role of the MIS comes in, it collects and generate a report for the management level to have an insight to the operation allowing them to do decision making achieve better results.
2. Mobile Application and Intelligent Systems differs on their usage. The Mobile Application mostly focus on the applications for the companies and businesses. The Mobile application is simple and can be access or use in the mobile devices such as smart phones. While the Intelligent Systems focuses on the human experiences. The Intelligent Systems are mostly use in technologies that needed a technical abilities in order to use.
3. For me the Knowledge Management System is the better platform to use in an organization because the KMS delivers an optimal result to use it in an efficient and effective manner, thus the employees are able to create, share and find relevant information quickly.
